I. IDENTITY

Cianciòlo Group is an Italian company highly specialized in the design and the manufacture of building envelopes, windows, doors and external cladding. Resulting from a careful combination of production expertise and creative talent, the brand's identity is also distinguished by a strategic desire to innovate for the sake of innovating. By investing in constant evolutionary updating, the company is able to offer to its customers cutting-edge solutions, coming from an original synthesis between industrial knowledge and handcrafted knowledge, applied to standard models or solved with special and tailor-made solutions. Cianciòlo Group offers to its workers community to realize together an ambitious life and work purpose, to be developed by sharing and respecting some founding values, all coherent with the guidelines declared in the Vision and Mission of the company: to promote the project's bravery and intelligence, to fuel the curiosity and the enthusiasm of the research.

II. YESTERDAY, TODAY, TOMORROW

Cianciòlo Group is the outcome of a project that was born from the intuition of its founder, Giuseppe Cianciòlo (1935–2020).

A man of undisputed, recognized qualities, he dedicates his life to work with the primary focus of promoting the company's growth that brings his family's name, producing valuable works and services and encouraging the stable professional specialization of his contributors.

Since 1964, the year in which the first small shop specialized in iron working was opened, Giuseppe's dream, vision and teaching were passed onto the two following generations who, with responsibility and passion, consolidate the prestige of the brand for affirming it in the present and casting it into the future.

A solid Italian reality, Cianciòlo Group faces the changing challenges of the global market, proposing itself on the international scene through its own entrepreneurial formula implemented with proficiency, seriousness and industriousness.

III. THE VISION

To be an absolute point of reference in the art of designing and creating efficient, safe and intelligent results, useful for defining the high standards of environmental comfort for the living of the present and future generations.

IV. THE MISSION

Safeguarding the wisdom of tradition, generating innovative solutions. The Group's work accents human talent: it's fueled by passion, it's guided by the search for perfection, quality and beauty.

V. SKILLS

The experience gained in sixty years of activity allows the achievement of exemplary levels of work quality, which name Cianciòlo Group as a point of reference in the area market, both in Italy and abroad. Through the careful training of its technicians and operators, also having cutting-edge technologies and an efficient distribution network, Cianciòlo Group works with the aim of making continuous improvements to its production cycle and its work organization.

The company is structured for following every stage of the project development – from preliminary to executive – guaranteeing reliable technical support to the experts involved, managing the production cycle and then construction on site, in order to realize works of all sizes, articulation and complexity.
